

Bündnis für sexuelle Selbstbestimmung

Call for Action Day of Reproductive Rights and Sexual Self-Determination on September 20, 2025, and kick-off for the nationwide week of action as part of the International Safe Abortion Day.

On September 20, a broad coalition of organizations and individual activists is organizing a demonstration for Action Day of Reproductive Rights and Sexual Self-Determination in Berlin. We are taking to the streets for the right to our bodies, our choices, and our lives.

We continue to demand the decriminalization of abortions, the recognition of abortions as an essential part of health care and the guarantee of free and local access for all. Furthermore, we demand the recognition and equality of all gender identities and sexual orientations.

The day of action is directed against the so-called “March for Life,” which is taking place on the same day in Berlin and Cologne. There, Christian fundamentalists and right-wing populists are demanding a total ban on abortions and are questioning the diversity of lifestyles, sexual orientations, and gender identities.

The organizers of these marches are internationally well connected and, like we see in the US, are increasingly putting pressure on parliaments in Germany and throughout Europe to pass regressive and repressive laws.

But we will oppose this! Let us stand together—intersectionally and in solidarity with one another — to take a stand against patriarchal ideas and for the right to sexual and reproductive freedom for all!

Join us on September 20 starting at 12pm for our rally and demonstration on the square in front of Paul-Löbe-Haus.

This Action Day will kick-off the nationwide week of actions surrounding the International Safe Abortion Day on September 28.

More information

